Full Lyrics here Song here

Til now we've been but strangers we've not known much about each other and our stories It's time to let them out

They'll flow down every path like streams to join a river and there they'll find each other and grow into a sea

The sound will start to swell and soon became a wave that'll brake upon the silence

Then we'll start the singing and somehow understand that all our voices ringing out could rival any band and set our voices free

When we start the singing suddenly we'll see this song is our song for our community

Take a breath and be brave Take a moment to say hello For the gift that you gave Is the promise to never feel alone.
